HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION
THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE NAMED ASSOCIATION are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street, lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone's throw of
ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.
The tract will require little or no grading, there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be safe to build without any change of grade It commands a
Beautiful View of the Bay,
And its opposite shore, and has a soil of extreme richness. So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon
The Rev E Thomas, D. D.,
Is President of the Association Lester L Robinson, formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company, is the Treasurer, and Thomas B. Lewis, formerly of Portland, Secretary
Four lots 22x120 feet each, constitute a share, costing $315—paid in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $20 has been made
Maps and books giving full information of the workings of the Association can be obtained at the store of J. H. PARRISH & CO.

COOLIE SLAVERY IN CUBA—A Havana correspondent says the Coolie immigration seems to have increased of late The Coolies are coming in in large numbers, ship after ship. If we look seriously at this traffic in human beings—for, in the way it is carried on, it can be called nothing else—I should say that it is high time something was done on behalf of so many unfortunate beings It is all very well to say that Cuba has no other alternative than to entice them to these shores, since the negro trade is defunct, and that, unless the Asiatics are introduced to do the field labor the island will be ruined But if so inhuman a manner, and why does Government not give it its proper attention? Almost people whose opinions are worthy of credit consider the traffic worse than the negro trade But this as it may, we all know that the so called contracts are nothing but a substitute for bills of sale, and as to the general treatment of Coolies, on the plantations and elsewhere in the country, it is no better than the cruelty practised with negro slaves It is a great mistake to believe what taskmasters and overseers say on the subject, these would wish to see them of a humiliating disposition, entirely submissive to the caprices and exactions of their masters, as the negro seems to be by nature they will always forget that Asiatics are not Africans, that Coolies are free born men, and that therefore they can never feel like slaves, nor will they submit to the lash as the poor Africans do Many of the overseers and others do not heed these considerations, and thus accounts for the continual disorders with which the accounts from the country are filled and which frequently lead to murder and even assassination Another day the entire gang of a plantation, which is well known, abandoned it rather than take retributive justice" into their own hand But who is to vindicate the rights of the Coolies when their taskmasters are in the wrong? Who can explain their complaints in the absence of proper regulations, and what is to restrict the tyranny of ignorant and barbarous overseers? A Spanish Syndico's duty it is, by ancient law, to defend them, as in the case with the African slave, but Chinese is worse than Greek to him Besides, that functionary resides in the capital, and the Chinaman is far beyond communication with him The coolie therefore has no alternative but to run away If he does so he is either hunted up by bloodhounds put in the stocks and placed on short allowance, or else get flogged If he effects his escape he becomes a criminal, is caught sooner or later, and finally doomed to hard labor for an indefinite period on the public works of the Government Is this the aim of immigration and colonization of coolies? All this is of common occurrence here, without any sort of inquiry or investigation being made as to the complaints or conduct of the coolie or his master It is thus that the labor contract is carried out in the Island of Cuba The man never sees his country again, and the only consolation he has is that which his peculiar creed affords him in death

The colored voters of Jacksonville, (Fla) at a recent meeting resolved "That we as a body will support a Union ticket we will support no man who has ever been in the Confederate service voluntarily, that we will stick to each other in a body, that we will stand united as one, that we will not be influenced by any man to cast a vote

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON, D C. March 30, 1867

The President is so fond of vetoing messages that he has sent in to Congress his second upon the Reconstruction legislation. Any man of common sense would have been satisfied with his long veto upon the main bill, and would have sent the supplemental bill to Congress with a brief protest or a veto. But Andrew Johnson is mulish in his obstinacy, and like an old scolding fishwoman is determined to have the last word Everybody notices that there is no allusion to the courts in this document, and it is supposed that he has ascertained that the Supreme Court, acting under the precedent in the Dorr case, will refuse to entertain the question of the constitutionality of the Reconstruction law, however brought before it, upon the ground that it is a political question which Congress alone must decide The Johnson men here, and throughout the North, concede that they have little hope from the Court The President is evidently a soured, disappointed man He pretends in his message to hope that by and by his "policy" will triumph, but he must learn that there is little hope of it, and I have heard of some of his recent private conversations in which he admitted that there seemed to be no chance for him or for the South The hardest blow yet for him is the fact that the South, perceiving that he has no power to protect them, are deserting his "policy," and are going to accept the terms offered by Congress This is now apparent, and however long particular States may hang back, it is unquestionably true that the great work of Reconstruction has commenced in the South, and that it will not stop till every rebellious State is represented in Congress.

One week ago to day the Senate presented a most remarkable "scare" I have alluded before in this correspondence to the Custom House (New York) investigation carried on by the House Committee on Public Expenditures, and to the fact that Senator Doolittle and Patterson were afloat on it. The new Board" Committee on Public Expenditures took additional evidence one day last week and asked leave of the House to transmit it to the Senate, as it affected the Senate in question, which was done. After allowing the testimony to lie upon the Senate table long enough to enable Doolittle to prepare a speech in reply to it, it was taken up on Saturday and read The testimony was undoubtedly worth little, but the action of the Senate cannot be justified. It is seldom lately suspended, all the rules to enable Doolittle to "proceed in his

A Contract

That ridiculous gascon Beauregard, has written a letter on the political situation in which, after recommending affiliation with the voting freedmen and expressing a belief that the blacks will contribute to give the rebels back the power they have lost, gives full play to his fancy and expresses the belief that the "Radicals will go to the bottom when peace and virtue are restored to the country." This believer in the coming of another golden age expresses the conviction that the "Conservatives will soon take the reins in their own hands, and the constitutional laws of the land will once more prevail." Was impudence equal to this ever known? This rebel who began the war by his attack on Fort Sumter, now talking about "the constitutional laws of the land" extolling "peace," and mourning over the loss of public virtue! He evidently thinks the salvation of the country depends upon such rare patriots as himself But all Confederates are not just such fools as he. Longstreet has written a letter on political matters, the manly sense of which is in striking contrast with Beauregard's impudence. He says: "The first thing to be kept in view is that we are a conquered people. There is but one course left us, and that is to accept the terms offered us by our conquerors Let us come forward then, and accept the ends involved in the struggle." That is the sort of talk. When the man who repudiated the Constitution and brought on the war, talk loudly about their "constitutional rights" and denounce loyal men as being the enemies of peace and order, it is pretty clear that the hemp crop has not been made to answer the purpose for which it was intended.

Wandering Again.

The "organ" raises another objection to the policy of Congress and of the people It has found another reason why Mr Johnson's policy should have been accepted. The reason will doubtless strike the readers of that paper as a singular one. In substance it is this: Mr Johnson, had he been left to carry out his views, would have made treason odious, while the "Radical" policy, if carried through, will defeat that object! The "organ" has spent numberless columns in the congenial work of denouncing all who have talked of making treason odious, and has repeatedly grown furious at the mere mention of the idea that any disgrace can be made to attach to those who rebelled. Now it says "that if the object of the Radicals is to bring these people under public odium, they are pursuing the best possible policy to defeat that object." Why, then, don't the "organ," with the views it holds on this subject, side with the "Radicals" and prevent treason from being made odious? If such were to be the results of the "Radical policy," does anybody believe that the "organ" would oppose it? If the result of Johnson's policy be to make treason odious, does anybody imagine the "organ" would support it? In attempting to make out a case against its opponents, that paper has proceeded so clumsily that it is, as usual, caught in its own trap. This shows how very unwise it is for the "editor of thirty years experience" to quit the resolutions of '98 and the Hartford Convention, and make excursions into fields with which he is necessarily less familiar. By all means let him stick to the old themes.

A Suitable Leader.

"Brick Pomeroy" makes an appeal to the "Democracy," which some of the papers of that faith in this State are copying with great gusto. The following is a brief extract from this truculent manifesto:

We to-day know where there are men who will march, if need be, two hundred thousand strong in defence of liberty We sit in our sanctum and see on a map dotted with spots as the heavens are with stars, where there are men by tens, by fifties and by hundreds who will stand trifling with but few months longer are they will form mysterious places bring forth the sabre and musket and rally for a final struggle which will overturn the party in power.

So it appears there is soon to be a gathering of the sons of the "Peace Democracy,"—not to sing pæns to peace as in 1864; but to rush "in bright emblazonry and hortoot arms" to the battle It is curious to observe how thoroughly "Brick" and others of his kidney are disgusted with these piping times of peace. When the war was raging it was cruel, wicked, infernal, but now when peace prevails every man is a dastard, whose voice is not for war. The valiant "two hundred thousand" who are going to march "in defence of liberty" doubtless intend to follow the tactics of the celebrated Captain Bobadil. He proposed, with his ten companions, to "lick" the whole world, ten persons at a time. So this army of "Peace Democrats" probably intend to slaughter the Abolitionists in detachments of "two hundred thousand." As for their leader "Brick Pomeroy," everybody has heard of him just as they have heard of other monstrous things which nature occasionally breeds. He openly advocated the assassination of Lincoln, and expressed his delight at the atrocities of Andersonville and Salisbury. He is a very suitable man to lead the "Democracy."

Ex-pirate Semmes boldly declares that the reconstruction measures of acting-President Johnson during the first year of his term, were equally as arbitrary and unconstitutional as any which Congress has adopted. Semmes has no patience with the acting President when he denounces as arbitrary the acts of anybody else. The ex-pirate is not a valuable authority, but it is evident to everybody that the recent act of Congress abolishing the so-called State governments in the South was not a whit more unwarrantable or arbitrary than the act of Johnson abolishing the governments of those States in 1865. Reverdy Johnson may be considered as an authority in those matters, and in a speech in the Senate on the reconstruction act he said that "many of the President's measures, in his judgment, were as unconstitutional as any that could be found in this bill." Reverdy Johnson is a Democrat, he sees things from a Democratic stand point, and it is his opinion that it does not become the acting President, after all he has done, to denounce the measures of Congress as unconstitutional. Here is matter for the President's supporters—if he has any,—to ponder upon.

JOURNALISM IN NEW YORK.—A New York letter to a San Francisco paper states that Old Tammany Hall has been refitted for the use of Dana's new paper, the Republican, which will be started about the first of June. The proprietors start with subscription to the amount of $200,000, and propose to make it an evening paper, so radical as to put even the Tribune to shame, and, as they are men of experience in journalism, they are confident of establishing their enterprise before all their capital is expended. The veteran politician and editor, Thurlow Weed, has bought the Commercial Advertiser, for something less than $100,000, and he will assume the editorial management and endeavor to revive its somewhat waning reputation The expense of maintaining a first class morning paper is so enormous, that of the Tribune, for instance, exceeding, from its showing, $900,000 last year, that there is little chance of increased competition in this department

AN INTERESTING INQUIRY.—Several persons who are competent to form a judgment in the matter, have expressed to us the opinion that our statement of the amount of public money that would probably fall to the Herald under the arrangement recently entered into with it by its clique in the Council, is much too low, and that its bill will be much nearer $2,000 than $1 000 in the course of a year If is now known that the Herald clique expected that it would be worth $2,500 to their organ, and some of them so expressed themselves It would be interesting to know who among this crowd are stockholders in the concern A little information on this point would doubtless clear up the whole matter.

MCCRACKEN AGAIN.—The subjoined paragraph is from "Malakoff's" Paris letter to the New York Times

Mr Seward's correspondence with Mr Motley has touched the sensibilities of more than one American citizen, as may be seen by the following advertisement, which appeared yesterday morning in Galignani's Messenger of this city:

JOHN HEWSTON, Jr Chemist and Superintendent.

THEIR COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the mining and commercial value of bullion
Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS

One eighth of one per cent, (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sums. Returns made in twenty-four hours

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS.

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,000, and one-eighth of one per cent for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS,

On bullion under 500 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 500@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 600@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce
On bullion from 750@940½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce.
Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars

FOR COINING GOLD.

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and which is paid by us to that institution But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS.

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint
Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates
Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express

CHARGES AT U S BRANCH MINT

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint, we annex the tariff of charges now in force at that institution
For refining bullion under 899 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce
For refining bullion from 899½@600 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce
For refining bullion from 600½@750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce
For refining bullion from 750½@849½ parts gold, 11 cents per ounce
For refining bullion from 850½@949½ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce
The charge for coinage is half of one per cent, and the charge for melting fine silver bars, the same
Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage, with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have cost ½ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following par rates to equal the return which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage
849 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents
849 par to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents
865 par to equal San Francisco Assay & Refining Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents mh11d2p1m

CITY ITEMS.—From the Enterprise of the 4th inst., we clip the following. The Union municipal ticket to be voted for Monday, 6th, is as follows: For Mayor, Henry Warren; Recorder, J. M. Moore; Councilmen Dr. F. Barclay, J. W. Lewis, A. J. Appleton, George A. Pease, Wm. Broughton, C. W. Pope, J. W. Fraser; Assessor and Collector, N. W. Randall; Treasurer, P. Charles; City Attorney, F. O. McGown; Marshal, J. W. Ryan; Street Commissioner, J. W. Ryan ... The cash sales of land, at the Land Office in this place, amounted during the last month to 37,702 72, and in addition to this there was entered under the Homestead Act during the same period 2,577 32 700 acres. On Monday night last, near the bend of Niven o'clock, a large meteor exploded, a little south of west of this city. The explosion was not heard, but for an instant darkness was converted to day by the brilliancy of the spectacle ... A lady named Mrs. Offield, from this county, who has been in town from time to time for years, was taken by her husband to the Portland asylum on the 29th ult. At the last meeting of the city Council an ordinance was adopted granting the right of way through all lots, blocks, streets, alleys, etc., belonging to the city, to Messrs. George A. Pease and C. P. Church, and their associates, for the purpose of laying water pipes. The charter of the company, or grant by the city, gives them this privilege for 15 years, or 10 years which time the property is exempt from taxation by the city ....On Wednesday last David Eggleston was brought before Justice J. M. Moore at this city on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Jane Beddel, in the south-west part of this county, being armed with an axe. He was held to bail in the sum of $300 for his appearance at the next term of the Circuit Court, and in default of bail was committed to the county jail .....At a meeting of the Clackamas Base Ball Club, held on the evening of the 20th inst. Hon. W. Carey Johnson was chosen President for the ensuing season. N. W. Randall, Vice President, Peter T. Barclay Secretary, and Fred T. Charman, Treasurer. Directors, J. McWilliams, F. O. McGown, George A. Sheppard. The first regular meeting will be held on Tuesday evening next, May 7th, and will meet hereafter 11 monthly on the first and third Mondays of each month. At the regular meeting of Willamette Lodge No 15, I. O. G. T., held on the evening of the 27th, the following elective officers were chosen for the ensuing term: J. M. Bacon, W. C. T.; Miss Mary Warren, W. V. T.; D. M. McKenney, W. S.; Mrs. W. White, W. T.; L. L. White, W. F. S.; R. Thompkins, W. C.; Miss Mary Lavery, W. I. G.; George A. Harding, W. O. G.

A MYSTERY ABOUT WOOL.—By some means a statement got into one of the up-country papers to the effect that wool was commanding 23 cts per pound. The effect of it was to cause wool-growers to be a little nervous, in expectation of a rise. The fact is that, notwithstanding numerous reports, wool has not for a long time commanded over 23 cts. per pound, and that is all that any of our letters will pay now. The impression that wool has risen rapidly since the eastern market is, also, a mistake. It is simply firm at about the prices ruling before the tariff went into effect. An Eastern authority on wool says: "The present state of trading prevents dealers from urging large purchases upon manufacturers, and the circumstance under which manufacturers are labouring prevent them from purchasing largely if they pursue the course which prudence would dictate. There are but few who have not suffered from a too reckless course, which is now producing a very careful and conservative policy. This we are glad to see; it is wise. As yet there has not been any disposition to speculate upon the tariff; every one is willing to wait the demand for woolens and as long as the manufacturers continue their limited consumption of wool it cannot go higher; and the small amount of stocks in the hands of manufacturers will prevent it from going any lower. Should manufacturers increase the production of woolens, wool will immediately assume to the increased demand; the latter, however, we do not expect to see this side of the new clip. Low wools continue in good demand, and sell readily at 60c, particularly those which have any staple. Medium wools have also a good demand. In fact, it is a long time since the demand for the different grades of wool was so equal as at present. It would be very difficult to determine which would be the best investment for a quick return; margins are very small indeed, and dealers have to be exceedingly careful in making purchases, or they cannot get their money back.

THE GERMAN LECTURER.—Turn-Verein Hall last evening was well filled with ladies and gentlemen of our German fellow citizens, to listen to the lecture of Mr. F. S. Oetheim, on the subject of "Knowledge the Basis of Free Institutions." The lecturer said that in countries where knowledge is oppressed, there slavery reigns supreme. Freedom is life, and nature knows no difference between man and man. The only enemies of humanity are the aristocracy. If kings claim the right to reign by the will of the people, that man has no doubt the same right to assert his freedom by the same authority. The lecturer further said that "America, our adopted country, not the world a practical example of knowledge, wisdom and courage." He then directed a very eloquent appeal to the Fatherland to imitate America. "To succeed," he said, "would require unity in the love of freedom, which is already manifesting itself among the German people." The audience was also entertained with piano solos from Prof. Grobb, and songs by amateurs.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.—We have received a copy of Knapp, Burrell & Co.'s illustrated catalogue of farm implements and machines, which contains a great number of well executed cuts and full descriptions of the many articles shown. Messrs. K., B. & Co., from a comparatively small beginning, have grown to be the largest manufacturers of this description of goods on the North Pacific Coast. They have always had the reputation of selecting their stocks with judgment, adapting their orders to the peculiar wants and condition of the country. Their implements this year are larger and more varied than ever before, and great pains have been taken to select only the strongest and most durable machines, with a view to obviating the necessity for frequent repairs in the interior where such work is expensive. They pledge themselves to sell as low as, or lower than, any house on the Pacific coast. Every man who wants a farm machine of any kind should send for one of their catalogues.

"IMPERIAL EXTRA" IN NEW YORK.—The last number received of the New York Shipping and Commercial List contains the following notice of Imperial Extra flour: "A considerable portion of the late receipts of Flour via the Isthmus, has consisted of Oregon, and the best kind received, 'Oregon City Mills,' compares favorably with our best Atlantic States, samples on change. The first steamer brought 1,000 barrels to Charles Dimon, in 50 days from Portland Oregon. It is branded 'Imperial Extra,' (Sayler & Co's. Mills,) and for family use ranks with some of our best known Westport extras. It is satisfactory to know that when the West sells us, the 'Webfeeters' of the Willamette Valley of Oregon, and the thrifty valleys of Sacramento, Santa Clara, San Joaquin, Solano and Napa, in California, can furnish us with a choice article of the 'staff of life.'"

OREGON SALT.—The salt works of Mr. H. C. Victor are now in successful operation and turning out about two tons of first class salt, daily. There is no longer any question of its purity, the salt having been thoroughly tested by a number of farmers and dairymen. Mr. Hoyt, we learn, salted down with it, last fall, 2,000 lbs. of meat which kept as well as any he ever put down, with the best brands known. The salt now made is of a pure white color and beautifully and finely crystallized.

FREIGHT PER MONTANA.—The steamship Montana for San Francisco, Saturday, took the following freight: 804 boxes apples, 121 packages lard, 10,040 quarter sacks of flour, 117 packages bacon, 54 packages dried apples, 43 packages leather, 26 packages wool, 43 hides, 4 bundles skins, 36 packages merchandize, 350 sacks wheat.

FROM THE STATES.—Mr. W. S. Barker, formerly of Salem, arrived here by the Montana from Illinois, where he has been spending the past winter. He says he got "rough of States' freezing and thawing in one winter, and has concluded that no profits Oregon, notwithstanding her "eternal mists."

PAYNTON'S COURT.—On Saturday, John Pierce was charged with an assault and battery upon Eliza Brannifan, a waiter-girl with whom he had been living. John had been on a spree Friday night, and wound up the evening's sport by thrashing his "woman." The Recorder fined him $10 and costs.

TREASURE SHIPMENT.—The following amounts of treasure were shipped by the Montana on Saturday:

Wells, Fargo & Co.....	$20,000
Ladd & Tilton.....	8,000
Goldsmith Bros.....	2,000
Total.....	$30,000

THE LECTURE SATURDAY NIGHT.—The lecture by Hon. E. D. Shattuck on Saturday evening was attended by a fair audience as to numbers, but far above the average intellectual status. The lecture itself, was one calculated to sustain the reputation of the speaker for reading and independent and deep thought.

EXCURSION.—The steamer Ranger made an excursion yesterday, to Oswego, taking about seventy-five or eighty pleasure-hunters. She left about ten o'clock and returned about four P. M. Some of the party speak of having had a very pleasant day of it.

STATE DIGNITARIES.—Gov. Woods has been stopping in this city for several days. He goes to the Dalles this morning to remain the greater part of the week. Secretary May arrived by the Montana from San Francisco and goes this morning to Salem.

BAPTISM.—Eleven persons received the rite of baptism yesterday, in this city, at the hands of Rev. C. C. Shattuck, pastor of the M. E. Church—one being immersed, five by sprinkling and five by pouring.

ARRIVED AT BOISE.—Lt. J. A. Waymire U. S. A., with a detachment of the 23d U. S. Infantry, arrived at Ft. Boise on the 24th ult., en route to Camp Lyon. He made the march from Umatilla in sixteen days.

THE FOOT-RACE.—The foot-race at the White House on Saturday, between "Plowboy" and Hamilton, was won by the latter. The spectators, some of them, express the opinion that the whole affair was a hilk.

SOLD.—The building, late the Bank of British Columbia, was sold on Saturday at auction, to Mr. S. G. Reed for the sum of $255., cash.

COURTS.—The U. S. District Court for the District of Oregon will convene to-day. The County Court for Multnomah county, also, meets this morning.

STOCK.—The O. S. N. Co's steamers landed last week at the Dalles, 1000 head of cattle, 700 sheep, 640 hogs and 124 horses and mules.

TREASURE RECEIVED.—By the Cascade boat, Saturday evening, Wells, Fargo & Co received $8,600 in treasure.

HOW TO PREPARE WOOL FOR MARKET.—The last issue of the Oregon City Enterprise makes the following suggestions for the treatment of wool: "Very much Oregon wool is scarcely merchantable on account of the condition it is in when put upon the market, that otherwise would command round figures. The season is now close upon us and we trust a few hints may not be amiss. Many farmers, in shearing, break the fleece more than they should, which reduces the value of the wool—broken wool of the same quality and condition always being of less value than fleece. Another error, too common, is in 'doling up' fleeces wrong side out. After the fleece is rolled up with a rope, on a board, or, if clean on the ground, the sides cut with the shears drawn aside, then double the sides in and roll from each end to the center, and tie with two or three good strings—but you get the best part of the fleece on side and the quality of the wool is not only more readily ascertained, but it is a great saving to the producer and manufacturer. Another bad practice is in the handling of wool, in city places. It should be kept as free as possible from hay, straw, chip shavings, feathers, etc. Thousands of dollars are unnecessarily wasted, from inattention to this particular. It can be easily avoided by very little care. The approach of the wool-shearing season renders the above remarks appropriate at the present time. Too much care and neatness in making up packages, cannot be exercised. Oregon has wasted hundreds of thousands of dollars by the careless manner in which its products have been prepared for market, and it is time a radical reform should be inaugurated.

AN ANTIDOTE FOR POISON.
THE PAIN KILLER.—Rev. T. Allen, writing from Tavoy, Burmah, says: "Within the past four years I have used and dispensed of about five hundred bottles, but am now out. Please send me a fresh supply as soon as you can—say two hundred bottles. I dare not be without it myself, and there are endless calls for it, both by Burmans and Karens. I always take it with me into the jungles, and have frequent occasion to use it, both on myself and others. One night, while sleeping in an open Zayate, I was awoke by a most excruciating pain in my foot. On examination, I found I had been bitten by a centipede. I immediately applied the Pain Killer, and found instant relief. In less than an hour I was again asleep."
Rev. Mr Hibbard, writing from Burmah to his father, says: "I have used Davis' Pain Killer for coughs, colds, summer complaints, burns, and for the sting of scorpions, with uniform success. We always keep it where we can lay our hands on it in the dark, if need be." ap20dtc

How Strange.

How strange it will be, love—how strange when we two
Shall be what all lovers must be,
You, fright and faithful as I am, and cold to me
You thoughtless of me, and I careless of you,
Our past names grown rusty with a thing to do
Love's bright web unravel'd and rent, and worn
the cloth
And life's loom left empty—ah hon:
Ah, me,
How strange it will be

How strange it will be when the witchery goes
Which makes me seem I say to-day
When your thought of me loses its contour de rose
When every day serves up no new fault to disclose
When you find I've cold eyes and no very dry nose,
And wonder you could for a moment suppose
I was out of the common place way
Ah, me
How strange it will be.

How strange it will be, love—how strange when we meet
With just a chill touch of the hand
When my pulses no longer delight in by heat
At the thoughts of your coming the sound of your feet,
When I watch not your going far down the long street,
When your dear loving voice now so thrillingly sweet,
Grows harsh in reproach or command,
Ah, me
How strange it will be.

How strange it will be when we willingly stay
Divided the weary day through!
Or, getting remotely apart as we may,
Sit chilly and silent with nothing to say,
Or coolly converse on the news of the day,
In a wearisome old fulsh sort of way!
I shrink from the picture, don't you?
Ah, me,
How strange it will be.

Dear love, if our hearts do grow torpid and cold,
As many others have done,
If we let our love perish with hunger and cold,
If we dim all life's diamonds and tarnish its gold,
If we choose to live wretched and die unconsoled,
'Twill be the strangest of all things that ever were told
As happening under the sun!
Ah, me,
How strange it will be!—Florence Percy

The New York Press on the Russian Treaty.

The cession of Russian America to the United States was first made public on Sunday, March, 31st. No suspicion having been previously entertained of the existence of the treaty, very little was known by the time the steamer left on the next day, either of its details or the value of the territory, the facts in relation to it, which did so much to change the feeling with which the treaty was regarded by the Senate, having subsequently called out. The papers received, however, gave the matter much prominence, and all treat it editorially. Their remarks are interesting, as showing the impressions first produced upon the Eastern public. The Herald, of Sunday, says, in double leaded type:

The announcement, to-day, of the proposed cession by Russia of all her possessions in North America to the United States, comes unexpectedly, and is of great importance, both in a commercial and political point of view. Although a price is set upon the territory thus surrendered, it is, in fact, merely nominal, the value of the fisheries and the fur trade alone to our enterprising people being vastly in excess of the sum agreed upon as the purchase money. The treaty is an evidence of the close and friendly relations existing between the two great powers, and evinces the concurrence of the Russian Government in the policy which denies to European monarchies the right to build up kingdoms and dominions on the American continent.

With Russian America in our possession, it will need but the annexation or absorption of British Columbia and Vancouver's Island to give us the whole of the Pacific coast north of Mexico as our own, and in one way or another this result will be accomplished. We cannot comprehend that our territory on the Pacific shall be broken between Washington Territory and Russian America, when the latter is fairly in our possession. It well for England if she is discreet enough to profit by the example of Russia, and to withdraw gracefully from a continent where her institutions are out of place and where her intrigues can only bring trouble upon her colonies and humiliation to her Government at home.

The acquisition of the new territory is of especial importance at the present time, when the trade of the United States with China and Japan is being so satisfactorily developed.

On the next day the same paper says:

Seven millions for Russian America! Is the country worth the money? It covers an area of 481,378 square miles, equal to that of all the country east of the Alleghany Mountains, from Maine to Mississippi inclusive, an area from which we could cut out ten States of the size of New York, and still have a considerable remnant left. This Russian corner of America is watered by a river, the Kvichpak, which, upon the map, cuts as respectable a figure as the Mississippi. It is a tremendous river. As for the agricultural and manufacturing resources of this glorious acquisition we do not say much. * * * In this view, "in point of fact," so far is this new purchase from being worth seven millions of dollars that it may be pronounced, barring the fish oil and beaver skins, utterly worthless and good for nothing. Seven millions for such a country, looking only at its products, is unquestionably a high price, compared with the splendid Louisiana purchase from the first Napoleon for fifteen millions of dollars.

Politically considered, however, this cession of Russian America becomes a matter of great importance. It indicates the extent to which Russia is ready to carry out her entente cordiale with the United States. It involves a delicate hint from the Czar to England and France that they have no business on this continent; it places the British possessions on the Pacific coast in the uncomfortable position of a hostile Cockney with a watchful Yankee on each side of him, and it involves a warning that his best policy will be to sell out and leave the Pacific seaboard, from Mexico to Behrings Strait, in the unbroken possession of Brother Jonathan. We know that Mr. Seward has always had a weakness for the annexation of Canada; and this treaty which he has concluded with Russia is only a flank movement for this great object. It is a step gained, a foothold secured for closer and more decisive operations. The Czar is now, we have no doubt, absorbed in the Eastern question; and he may have an Eastern programme in view which looks more to an alliance with England and France than to actually seeks a still closer friendship with the United States, but, whatever may be his designs, the military advantages offered us against England in the cession proposed are apparent in a glance at the map. England, no doubt, had she been approached with this offer from Russia, would have promptly accepted it, in order to head off the United States, but the Czar, in the transfer of this territory, with its naval positions, seeks rather to strengthen a friend than an enemy, in view of future contingencies.

The Times makes the treaty the text for a glorification of Mr. Seward's diplomacy, alludes to his efforts to get a foothold in the West Indies, and adds:

It now appears that on the opposite quarter of the globe Mr. Seward has been at the same time engaged in the prosecution of a project of equal magnitude and importance. He has secured from the Russian Emperor the cession to the United States of the whole of that great tract marked on the map as the Russian possessions in America. * * * By this accession the United States control the entire Pacific Coast for forty degrees of latitude, except the five degrees still held by Great Britain. Our Coast line on the western side of the continent is nearly twice that we hold on the eastern side. The main importance of this acquisition grows out of its bearing with our future trade with Japan, China, and the other countries of Eastern Asia. The time must come, and that ere long, when this country will control and carry on the great body of that enormous traffic, which has never yet failed to enrich the nations which enjoy it. Many now living will see the day when the Pacific coast will be as thickly studded with ports and cities as the Atlantic is now, and when the Pacific Ocean will be covered with commercial fleets, exchanging between the Asiatic and American Continents the productions of each. And it seems inevitable that all that commerce should be American.

The Tribune denounces the scheme, considering it another effort to cover up the failure of the Administration at home, and calls upon the Senate to refuse its consent, and the House in case the treaty is ratified, to refuse to vote the purchase money. It says:

The getting of all this land offers us no advantage that can counterbalance the objections to the treaty, when we come to deal with it as a matter of public policy of grave moment to this Republic. Of course, there are no arguments that will have any weight with the 'manifest destiny' mob, who believe we ought to annex all British America at a week's notice. But we are confident that sober minded people will not be blinded by the glitter of the prize held up to them. What ever can be said in favor of the acquisition is said in the dispatches with which the State Department has favored the public press. The objections to it may be summed up briefly.

First—We have more territory than we want. The United States now covers an area of three millions of square miles. At the close of the war with that power, we had 820,000 square miles, to which we added more than as much again by the purchase of Louisiana, 66,000 when we got Florida, 318,000 with Texas, 298,852 by the Oregon treaty, and by our extraordinary bargains with Mexico, 550,455 more. We have at this moment hundreds of millions of acres which the end of this century will not see tilled. We have 12,000 miles of sea coast unsurpassed for its harbors. On the Pacific coast, our flag covers 2,251 miles. Russian America would give us about four hundred thousand square miles of territory and it would give very nearly double the length of our coast line.

Second—The tendency of Republics is to expand beyond the limit of economical control. To the already vast domain embraced within our jurisdiction it is proposed to add a territory sparsely inhabited by Indians and traders. This will involve the establishing at once of a Territorial Government, the building of forts, arsenals, Government offices, the employment of troops and ships of war, and the paying of a legion of public officials, good mainly for drawing their salaries. Nobody will pretend that for many years this territory will begin to pay expenses. It is to cost us seven millions of dollars in hard cash (greenbacks not being a legal tender at St Petersburg.) And this money we have got to raise by selling more bonds in Europe at seventy cents on the dollar, on which, again, interest will have to be paid by laying fresh taxes on our already sorely burdened people. It is a luxury we are in no condition to afford.

Third—But it is not even a luxury. We have literally no use for this territory, if we acquire it. We do not want any more naval depots on the Pacific than we now have. If the unparalleled energy of Young America cannot find fields wide enough in the unoccupied lands of the Great West, in the yet almost untouched resources of the inning States and Territories, we can secure additional facilities by a commercial treaty with Russia. If she is willing to sell all, she will sell part. But it is idle to talk of needing land or of needing more fisheries and fur trading, while labor is scarce in three fourths of the United States, and capital is daily sought for the development of resources that promise the surety and robust returns to enterprise and thrift. Still less is there any call for the occupation of Russian America for "strategetical" purposes. In peace, such occupation will require an enormous outlay to maintain a warlike establishment. In war, it will prove alike useless for aggression, and an incumbrance for defence. Against what dwellers at the North Pole do we propose to commence a campaign?

Fourth—The Territories we have acquired from Mexico—Arizona, New Mexico, etc—have cost us a great deal more than they give us, and are to-day a drain upon our resources instead of a help to them. By as much as Russian America is more distant, inaccessible and inhospitable, would it be more costly than either for our most recent acquisitions. We have no room for statistics, but the facts are too notorious to be called in question.

Finally, the mere suggestion, which is put forward at least semi officially, that the occupation of Russian America will be a sort of a menace to Great Britain by interposing between her American possessions and the Pacific, ought to condemn the whole project. We have no occasion to be dealing in impertinences. If we want a quarrel with that power, we can have it any day without going to the North Pacific ocean for a pretext. Great Britain would quarrel—how could she? But we put ourselves in the attitude of seeking ostentatiously the friendship of a power not friendly to England, and of contracting what is tantamount to an alliance for the sake of an affront. It is the beginning—or perhaps not the beginning, but rather another step—of a policy foreign to our traditions and alien to our true interests. We cherish a hearty good will toward Russia, but we are utterly opposed to being drawn into any sort of alliance with her, other than commercial and peaceful. This treaty, if consummated, will prove a dangerous precedent and a stimulus to further entanglements.

Mining Season Opened.

[From the Idaho World, April 27.]

The mining season in this Basin, although not completely opened, is so far commenced as to enable us to form a fair estimate of the product in contrast with that of former years, and this estimate, we rejoice to learn, is in keeping with the well founded predictions of many of the pioneer, experienced miners of this region, made since the close of last year's season. They predicted that this year would prove to be one of the most productive and generally prosperous ever known in the Basin. Already their prophecies have been realized in several localities, as we doubt not they will be in nearly every locality when mining is actively resumed. And there are vast ranges of ground all about the Basin which will be worked for the first time this year, as water has been brought in by ditches to yield the supply of that necessary element to the miners.

Down along the Bar from the west side of the city to the Warm Springs, over two hundred men are at work, and an estimate of their products may be obtained from their own declarations that their most sanguine expectations of the pay have fallen far short of the actual yield. This is no isolated or rare remark, but is general; we believe indeed that it is the unanimous expression among the claim owners. A prominent merchant, who watched the washing of a single panful of the pay dirt from a pile of winter drifting, last Tuesday evening, during a stroll down the Bar, assured us that there was not less than five hundred dollars in the pan! Well acquainted with nearly all the miners, he made inquiries at the various claims as he passed along, and the remark in every instance was that the claims were paying or giving better than they expected.

Gentlemen who visited the North Fork diggings of Elk creek early in the week inform us that there likewise the same prosperous condition of things prevail—the claims all paying far beyond the most hopeful anticipations of their owners. The same report authentically comes to us from Moore's creek and personal observation and inquiry along on the Bonum Hill front one day this week satisfied us that equally large products are realized there. We first visited the claim of Casey, White & Underwood, and learned that although no clean up had yet been made, they had ascertained enough from sure "indications" to know that their product would exceed their first expectations. Next we went to Murphy & Highland's claim. They cleaned up on Monday, after a four days' run, and got $1,840. Next, at the claim of Canley & Co., we learned from Mr Tatro that a partial clean up gave them certain indications of a very rich yield. Next above is the claim of Mr. Donnelly. This was worked by Judge Waite last year at a loss, we believe, and Mr Donnelly bought it at a low figure. He is a practical and intelligent miner, and the difference in the work of a thorough miner and a man who is not, is exemplified in this instance. After an eight days' run, Mr. Donnelly made a clean up, and got about $2,300. And he has just commenced upon ground, for the first time struck in the hill, which he is confident will pay far beyond any as far worked. He scraped a shovel full of earth from the face of the bed rock and roughly washed it while we stood by, and in it were about two bits. Water is afforded at all these claims and others along the same range at the reduced price of fifty cents per inch for twenty four hours, and the claims mentioned run one hundred and fifty inches each day and night. Further on are the claims of Messrs. Underwood, of Gilbert & Co., and others whose names we have not learned. And it is reasonable to assume that each and all will pay handsomely through the whole season, as they have so far as worked paid far better than ever before.

From these facts it will be seen that the croakers who prate about the exhaustion or falling off of the gold placers of Boise Basin are grossly wrong. The truth is that there is at this day a broader extent of rich paying gold diggings in this section than in any region of equal area on the whole coast. On Moore's creek, from Chickahominy Mill to below Gold Spring Ranch—a distance of ten or twelve miles, along Elk Creek for six or seven miles, and all about this city; all around Centerville, Boston, Placerville, Granite Creek, Pioneer, Muddy, North Fork of Elk, Gold Hill Willow Creek and other known and noted diggings, the gold product continues to be above the average of the best mines of California, and there are vast gold placers already prospected, which have never been worked but which will be this season, with water plentifully supplied at reasonable rates, and they will quite surely yield from above the average to very large wages. In fact, Boise Basin is, and it will be for many years, the best general placer mining region yet discovered on this whole Pacific slope, and there is room here yet for thousands more to come and be enriched from the mines.

"ONE OF THE BOYS."—A youngster came home after having a glorious time in the puddles his face all aglow, and his rubber boots full of water. The punishment of staying in the house for the remainder of the day did not seem very hard at first, but as his little heart warmed up with the recollection of the triumphs of the morning, when he had waded deeper than any of his playmates dared to, he could not bear the restraint any longer, and went to his mother, saying "Please, mother, whip me and let me go out again!"

A freedman in Pulaski county, Georgia, employs his former master as overseer, paying him eight bales of cotton to superintend his planting operations the present year.

A Polite Joke.

The Hound and Horse relates the following:

A gentleman who attended the Democratic Convention lately held at Vancouver, W. T., tells the following story of how a candidate for delegate to Congress was done out of sixty dollars. Mr. ——— and a number of his political friends were in a talk on adjourning the Exchange Hotel Portland talking politics and drinking whisky, when a person entered who was recognized by some of the friends to be Mr. C——, from Smallacmon county, with two votes (but whose real name is ——— and lives in Oregon). One of the friends suggests to Mr. L. that he had better secure the two votes if possible. C. and L. were introduced, and in a short time, with the assistance of John Barleycorn, "they became intimate friends." Just before parting for the evening, C. informed L. that he had spent more money than he had intended and that he was short that he had deposited his money at Crawford's in Vancouver, and if he would loan him sixty dollars until next day he would refund as soon as they would get over. L. immediately pulled out the amount and handed it to C., when they bid each other good night. Next day they left Portland for Vancouver—L. and his polite friends. The man who represented C. was nowhere to be found. It appears that L. was so much engrossed in his own affairs that he forgot about the money he had loaned C., and did not see the difference when brought face to face with the original C. in the convention. Mr. C. received a letter by the afternoon boat that he was required at home immediately, and the next morning he left on the boat to come up the river he having been told, however, the evening previous, what had transpired at Portland. After his arrival home, he received a letter from L., couched in rather severe language, somewhat unbecoming in a gentleman and one too who expected to represent the Democracy of Washington Territory in Congress, to refund the money he had borrowed, etc. Mr. C., believing that the joke had been carried too far, wrote to Mr. L. and explained the whole matter, closing his letter with these very truthful remarks. "A young man of your tendency and honesty can never expect to get the nomination for delegate to Congress especially of a Democratic Convention of Washington Territory. My advice to you is, that you stay out of politics, for it does not appear your forte." Mr. L. called on us on his way home from the Convention, and we thought he looked rather strange but we believed it was nothing more than the general appearance of a defeated aspirant for political honors, and therefore did not observe him very closely. We have written this just as it was told us by one of the parties, or at least as near as we can recollect.

A VETERAN PUBLISHER.—John Prentiss, for many years the editor and publisher of the Keene (N. H.) Sentinel, began his ninetieth year lately. He commenced the Sentinel in 1799, when he was just twenty-one years of age, his cash capital consisting of a five dollar bill. He gave three notes for his stock in trade, which bore this singular endorsement: "This note not to be sued unless there is evident danger of losing it." From 1799 to 1851 he dictated the contents of his weekly sheet, and for forty-eight years, except during a temporary absence, made up the forms of his paper. He is still able to be about, and almost daily is seen in the streets of the town of Keene.

A CHANGE OF LOCATION.—The Boston Advertiser remarks, with cutting sarcasm: "It seems that the roll of Robert Toombs' slaves will be called at the Georgia ballot box instead of at Bunker Hill."
